

ONE SMALL EMOJI. ONE BIG OPPORTUNITY.

Enter to win the Disney and Adobe emoji contest.

Launch your career with a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see how Disney pros make creative magic using Adobe tools.

Create and submit an original emoji of your favorite Disney character between Feb. 16–Mar. 9, 2017. If you're one of the five grand-prize winners, you'll be invited on a five-day trip to Disney Interactive in Los Angeles, California, where you'll meet with the team behind Disney's "As Told by Emoji" video series. Disney and Adobe creative pros will show you what's possible with Adobe Creative Cloud tools.

Here's how it works:

To enter, you must be a student between 18 and 24 years old and submit an original piece of emoji artwork that meets the following criteria:

- It should be the face of a character from a Disney feature film.
- It should express one of the following emotions: happiness, sadness, fear, excitement, or confusion.
- It should be static, not animated.

The contest is called "Disney Emoji: As Told by You," so your entry must be your own original artwork. Backgrounds and props may be included in your artwork, but they're not required. See Contest Do's and Don'ts on the submission website for additional details. Grand-prize winners must be available to travel to Disney Interactive in Los Angeles from May 21–May 25, 2017.

Hurry! Contest ends March 9, 2017.

You could win a chance to see how Disney and Adobe pros make magic.

To enter the contest:

1. Fill out your submission form and upload your emoji at disney.com/emojicontest
2. Share your emoji using the Twitter handle #madethis

Need inspiration?

See how the Disney Emoji Blitz team created an emoji of Sully using Creative Cloud. (You're not required to use Creative Cloud for your contest submission, but it can help you create great work.)

Watch the video >